

How are census forms ultimately disposed of?

After the computer processing of the data was completed, the DGBAS will assign specific personnel to bear responsibility for destroying the census forms, and ensure that personal information will not be disclosed.